

European Programs Focus On New Business Development And Media Updates For 2006

Scottsdale, Arizona (PRWEB) October 4, 2006 – Corcoran Associates, a firm of business advisors with offices in North America and Europe, has proven versatility is the key to keeping global programs on track. “Our clients are as exciting as they are successful so business proposals, press conferences, and well executed plans have been the focus in Europe this year”, states Kelly Isley, Partner with Corcoran Associates. “We are fortunate to have experts that can cover competitive pricing, sustainability, translations, and everything in between”.

Making complex strategies and goals fit in an organized proposal, charter, and media update is business as usual for the firm. Now, take that one step further and make the technical details clear in French or Spanish – overnight.

“We are pleased to report the firm published several business and technical translations out of Paris in the second half of 2006”, adds Estelle Richards, Director European Programs. “In addition, we assisted with media events, business plans, and will schedule interviews into 2007 for our global clients”.
